Floyd, thanks for touching base. Scoping directives will be posted, announced and news-released. I don't have a timeline, though. It is possible that SEPA (Ecology and county) and NEPA (Corps) directives may come out at different times. The idea here is that if one is ready sooner, the consultants should be set to task without delay. With the expected overlap, this approach would keep the process moving forward.

Ecology maintains a Millennium website, and our media contact is Linda Kent - linda.kent@ecy.wa.gov, 360-407-6239 - who is Ecology's regional PIO for that part of the state. The Millennium team will post, announce and news-release all key steps as the Gateway Pacific team has. They are now planning the scoping process and timetable, having made a Corps-Ecology-county agreement and selected an EIS contractor.

Hi, Larry: discussing scoping with some folks, there was a bit of confusion over how the agencies will make their scoping decision public. Will there be a publication on the Web, a meeting or news conference, or what? Someone had heard that there would be no announcement of what will be scoped, but I find that hard to believe after all we've been thru to get there. Can you clarify, please?

Any speculation on timing, or for that matter on when the Millennium scoping process is likely to begin?

Thanks, as always,
Floyd

Re: Health Impact Assessments

Dear Dr. Ahern:

Thank you for the recent discussions about Health Impact Assessments (HIA). The State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA) co-lead agencies, Whatcom County and the Department of Ecology, appreciate your interest to conduct a HIA for the proposed coal export terminal projects in Washington and Oregon in a way that complements the environmental review process for the Gateway Pacific Terminal/Custer Spur projects.

The co-lead agencies understand that you would like to develop a memorandum of understanding that would enable your team to engage in dialog with the relevant regulatory agencies and contractors involved in the Gateway Pacific Terminal/Custer Spur projects review process. After careful consideration, the SEPA co-lead agencies respectfully decline to enter into a memorandum of understanding.

As SEPA co-leads, our agencies are legally responsible for conducting the environmental review under SEPA. We looked to our adopted Communication Protocol Agreement which identifies communication limitations and documentation procedures that must be followed to preserve the independence, objectivity, and integrity of the County and State evaluation and decision making processes. Given the complexities of the Gateway Pacific Terminal/Custer Spur projects, it is important that the co-lead agencies protect and maintain the integrity of the SEPA process. More specifically, we are declining to enter into a memorandum of understanding because we feel that information pertaining to the development of the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) under SEPA must be managed strictly through mutual agreement between the co-leads until it is ready for public distribution. This approach allows the co-leads the greatest ability to consistently manage data and other information and produce a thorough and rigorous EIS.

May 2, 2013

As we have conveyed in earlier conversations, if the proposed HIA is provided to the co-leads during review of the draft EIS and prior to issuing the final EIS, we will consider its findings.

Finally, we are aware of other qualified entities that also will be conducting analyses that may inform our evaluation of impacts during the DEIS process. Our agencies are obligated to have a common and consistent protocol to how we consider and reference such analyses. Establishing a formal relationship with any one of these entities raises questions as to why we would not have similar relationships with others.

In closing, the co-leads respect the academic expertise of your organization, and we appreciate the effort invested in developing your purpose and objectives as well as your efforts to coordinate with the EIS process.

If you have questions, please contact Ecology's project manager Alice Kelly at (425) 649-7128.

Sincerely,

Josh Baldi

Hello.

Can anyone tell me if the county will be creating one "giant" record for the Gateway Pacific project, or if PDS and Council will be creating separate records? We have been sending everything we receive out to PDS in hopes that one consolidated record will be created in the end. We have done this type of "consolidated record" in the past, working with Gary Davis, and it worked splendidly. Thoughts?

Thank you.

Dana

Good Morning Dana,

Yes, Planning is intending to create one "consolidated record" for the GPT project. All records that we have received from your office has been categorized into our record and posted on the website. Once a permit decision is made, which is approved/denied by the Council, we can figure out the best way to transfer the record to the Council.

Thanks,

Tyler R. Schroeder

Hi Tyler,

Checking in on timing for Friday. If your morning has filled up we could meet the following Monday or Tuesday.

Thanks,

Shannon

Hi Tyler,

Friday morning would be great if that still works for you. 9:30 AM? I will see if our other staff member Kim Lund can join us.

Thank you,

Hi Tyler,

Is there a time in the next week or two we could meet? I am interested in talking directly and getting an update on several process questions on the GPT scope.

Thanks for your work,

Shannon

Coal Export Terminals in the Pacific Northwest

May 20, 2013

12-1 pm Pacific / 3-4 pm Eastern

View the agenda here.

Mr. Davis:

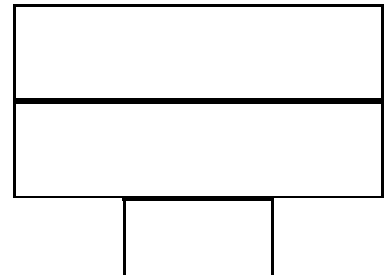

The proposals to develop large coal export facilities in the Pacific Northwest to ship coal from Wyoming and Montana to Asian markets have generated a significant amount of controversy and interest. In this one-hour TeleBriefing, our distinguished panel will address the key arguments and concerns surrounding these projects and discuss some of the most important legal issues. Topics will include:

- Key issues relating to environmental review and permitting for coal export terminals
- Whether and how state and federal regulators are evaluating greenhouse gas emissions associated with exporting fuels
- Key issues relating to rail transportation of coal through local communities
- Issues relating to the mining of coal from public lands, and the relationship to exports
- How Tribes are getting involved, and the implications for project permitting
- Key legal issues that will need to be resolved in the context of these projects
- What is likely to happen next in the permitting and review for the projects
- Why these projects are important for practitioners and advocates
