ORDER GRANTING EXTENSION
OF COMPLIANCE DEADLINE
AND
IMPOSING INVALIDITY

THIS Matter comes before the Board on Whatcom County's Motion for an Extension of the Compliance Deadline, filed on December 1, 2010. On December 9, 2010, Futurewise filed a response to the Motion in which it moved for an imposition of an order of invalidity.

I. DISCUSSION

A. Extension of Compliance Period

The Growth Management Act (GMA), at RCW 36.70A.300(3), requires the Board to set a date for compliance if it makes a finding of noncompliance on any matter. This provision provides: (in relevant part, emphasis added)

(b)Find that the state agency, county, or city is not in compliance with the requirements of this chapter... as it relates to adoption of plans, development regulations, and amendments thereto, ... in which case the board shall remand the matter to the affected state agency, county, or city.

1 The board shall specify a reasonable time not in excess of one
2 hundred eighty days, or such longer period as determined by the 3 board in cases of unusual scope or complexity, within which the state
4 agency, county, or city shall comply with the requirements of this 5 chapter. The board may require periodic reports to the board on the 6 progress the jurisdiction is making towards compliance.

7 Following remand from the Washington State Supreme Court of the Board's September 20,
8 2005 Final Decision and Order (FDO),¹ the Board held a status conference and set a 9 compliance schedule.² Whatcom County states its motion demonstrates the issues in the 10 case meet the standard of "cases of unusual scope or complexity" and that it needs an 11 additional ninety (90) days to meet the compliance deadline.³

12 The Board has previously found that the compliance issues involved in this case – LAMIRDs
13 and Rural Density - are of unusual scope and complexity.⁴ The passage of time has not 14 made the issues any less complex. Furthermore, since a final decision was issued by the 15 Washington State Supreme Court in December 2009, the County has taken steps to amend 16 its comprehensive plan and zoning regulations to achieve compliance with the GMA. The 17 County reports that its Council's Planning and Development Committee held work sessions
18 in January and March 2010, and thereafter held work sessions at every regular meeting
19 from April through June 2010.⁵ Following these meetings Planning and Development 20 Services staff received Council direction on several policy issues and proposed revisions to 21 the Planning Commission recommendations which the County Council Committee of the 22 Whole have been reviewing and revising.⁶ In light of the progress the County has made in 23 revising its Rural Element to meet the requirements of the GMA, it is appropriate to grant the

1 County additional time to complete this work, and the Board will grant the additional 90 days
2 requested.

3
4 Futurewise, in its response to the County's Motion, stated that it would not oppose an 5 extension of the compliance deadline if the briefing schedule is also extended.⁷ As it would 6 make little sense to extend the compliance deadline, but leave the current briefing schedule
7 in place, the Board will extend both the compliance deadline and briefing schedule.
8

9 Conclusion: Based on the foregoing, the Board finds that the rural densities and LAMIRD
10 issues remaining are of unusual scope and complexity. In light of the progress the County 11 has made in revising the Rural Lands section of its Land Use Element to meet the 12 requirements of the GMA, it is appropriate to grant additional time to complete this work.
13 Thus, the Board will grant the additional 90 days requested by Whatcom County. Since 14 the deadline for compliance has been extended, the Board also grants Futurewise's motion 15 for an extension of the briefing schedule to correspond with the compliance schedule.
16

18 B. Extension of Moratorium

19 Within its response, Futurewise requests the Board issue an order that the County's present
20 moratorium on rural development be extended until such time as the County is found to be 21 in compliance with the GMA and the moratorium be expanded to include all noncompliant
22 rural areas.⁸ Such an order is clearly outside the Board's authority and Futurewise's 23 request will not be entertained.
24

26 C. Determination of Invalidity

27 RCW 36.70A.302 authorizes the Board, after a finding of noncompliance, to invalidate all or 28 part of a comprehensive plan if it substantially interferes with the goals of the GMA. RCW

1 36.70A.330(4) permits the Board, during compliance proceedings, to reconsider whether a
2 Determination of Invalidity is then warranted even though it did not enter one in the FDO.
3 In its response to the County's Motion, Futurewise renews its request for a Determination of 4 Invalidity.⁹ As Futurewise points out, the Board had previously indicated in the September 5 2005 FDO that while it would not impose invalidity at that time on those portions of the 6 comprehensive plans found to be noncompliant, it was:¹⁰
7

8 [B]ecause we have not been presented with evidence that permit applications
9 will vest to such a degree that the County's work on remand to establish 10 appropriate LAMIRDs and rural densities will be jeopardized.

11 The Board noted that it would reconsider this decision to not impose invalidity if evidence of 12 such vesting were presented to the Board during the compliance period.¹¹
13

14 While the County notes in its Motion that it adopted an emergency ordinance imposing a 15 moratorium on the acceptance of new applications for subdivisions and short subdivisions
16 into parcels smaller than 10 acres in the rural areas,¹² Futurewise responds that this 17 moratorium applies only to properties that the Planning Commission has recommended be 18 rezoned Rural-10 and does not apply to other parts of the GMA non-compliant proto-
19 LAMIRDs or to the other GMA non-compliant provisions of the rural elements.¹³ 20

21 A review of Exhibits D and E attached to the County Motion demonstrates that the County's 22 moratorium applies only to "the acceptance of new applications for subdivisions and short 23 subdivisions for divisions of property into parcels smaller than 10 acres within areas 24 proposed for rezoning to R-10A or RR-10A under the October 8, 2009, recommendation of 25 the Whatcom County Planning Commission."

¹² County Motion at 4.

¹³ Petitioner's Response at 2-3.

1 Futurewise has presented evidence of rural subdivisions that have vested since this case
2 was originally decided by the Board in 2005.¹⁴ It argues rural vesting is an issue that 3 urgently needs to be addressed as these are in areas that are mostly not included in the 4 County's moratorium. It argues further that this results in sprawling, low density
5 development, interfering with the fulfillment of RCW 36.70A.020(2); loss of open space
6 interfering with the fulfillment of RCW 36.70A.020(9); lack of protection of the environment
7 and water quality interfering with the fulfillment of RCW 36.70A.020(10); and loss of 8 protection of adjacent farmland interfering with the fulfillment of RCW 36.70A.020(8).
9

11 In its response the County argues that "the tightly drawn boundaries of the Planning 12 Commission recommended LAMIRDs, together with the six-month moratorium on the 13 subdivision of land in the areas with noncompliant zoning outside of these proposed 14 LAMIRDs" make it impossible for Futurewise to meet the standard for the imposition of 15 invalidity.¹⁵
16

17 The County further argues that, with its moratorium, the only areas left with noncompliant
18 zoning are "within the boundaries of the LAMIRDs recommended by the Planning 19 Commission".¹⁶ In a challenge to the evidence that Futurewise relies upon to support the 20 imposition of invalidity, the County points out that the list of subdivisions that have vested 21 since 2005 is of doubtful merit because Futurewise has made no effort to show where these 22 subdivisions occurred. This is a legitimate criticism and, absent evidence that these 23 subdivisions fall outside the areas covered by the moratorium, Futurewise's request for 24 invalidity with regard to rural subdivisions is unsupported.
25
26

27 However, by the County's own admission, "it is indisputable that these subdivisions 28 occurred either in the area that is now covered by the moratorium or within the boundaries

1 of the LAMIRDs recommended by the Planning Commission.”¹⁷ (emphasis added). The 2 County also states that “two of these subdivision applications involved property in or around
3 the Kendall LAMIRD and seven involved property within the Point Roberts LAMIRD.”¹⁸ This 4 is a troubling admission as both this Board and our State Supreme Court have previously
5 found the County’s LAMIRD criteria to be noncompliant with the GMA.
6

7 In the Board’s FDO in this case, the Board found:

8 The designation criteria in the descriptors for small towns and crossroads
9 communities, crossroads commercial, resort and recreational subdivisions,
10 suburban enclaves, and transportation corridors allow the creation of more
11 intensive areas of rural development that do not comply with RCW 12 36.70A.070(5)(d). The failure to revise those descriptors therefore fail to 13 comply with RCW 36.70A.130. The failure of the County to revise the 14 designations of proto-LAMIRDs on Map 8 in accordance with the LAMIRD
15 criteria of RCW 36.70A.070(5)(d) also fails to comply with RCW
16 36.70A.130. The County’s record of its LAMIRD designations must show 17 the analysis used to arrive at the designation and mapping of them.
18 Policy 2GG-2 allows the designation of towns and crossroads communities
19 in areas that extend beyond the development and uses in existence in July 20 1990 and thus fails to comply with RCW 36.70A.070(5)(d).¹⁹

21 In the Supreme Court’s decision in Gold Star Resorts, Inc. v. Futurewise, the 22 Court noted:

23 On their face, the County’s existing descriptors do not include or reflect 24 these mandatory criteria. Moreover, the County conceded that it did not 25 consider the statutory LAMIRD criteria when defining its designations for 26 more intensely developed rural areas and did not attempt to analyze the 27 logical outer boundaries of the areas under RCW 36.70A.070(5)(d). The 28 County also expressly acknowledged that some of the areas it designated 29 include “vast amounts of undeveloped land” and that the County planned 30 to review the boundaries of several of the areas later that year for 31 compliance with the statutory LAMIRD requirements²⁰

32 ¹⁷ Id. at 5.

¹⁸ Id. at 5-6.

¹⁹ Futurewise v. Whatcom County, WWGMHB No. 05-2-0013, Final Decision and Order, at 19 (9/20/05).

²⁰ Gold Star v. Futurewise, 167 Wn.2d 723, 735 (2009)

1 The Court finally concluded "that the County's comprehensive plan does not comply with 2 the GMA's LAMIRD provisions and that the County was required, but failed, to revise the 3 plan to include the LAMIRD criteria and then apply them in establishing areas of more 4 intense rural development"²¹. The Court also held that the County "must revise its 5 comprehensive plan to conform to the LAMIRD provisions of the GMA and then apply the 6 statutory criteria to establish appropriate areas of more intensive rural development."²²
7

8 Thus, there appears to be no dispute that the County has allowed subdivision "in and 9 around" its LAMIRDs in the absence of compliant GMA criteria for the designation of 10 LAMIRDs.
11

12 It avails the County nothing that it is allowing subdivision within LAMIRDs "recommended by 13 the Planning Commission"²³ or that Futurewise "specifically supported the proposed 14 LAMIRDs"²⁴ or that most LAMIRDs were "endorsed by Futurewise as compliant with the 15 GMA".²⁵ The State Supreme Court has found the County's LAMIRD criteria to be 16 noncompliant with the Growth Management Act. The County ought not to be allowing 17 development within "recommended" LAMIRDs until it has adopted LAMIRD criteria found to 18 comply with the Act.
19
20

21 The Board incorporates its relevant earlier findings and conclusions regarding LAMIRDs
22 from the 2005 FDO into the present order.
23

24 Conclusion: Based on the foregoing, the evidence submitted by Futurewise, and the 25 concession by the County that it is approving subdivisions "within the boundaries of the 26 LAMIRDs recommended by the Planning Commission", the Board finds and concludes that 27 the continued validity of designation criteria in the descriptors for small towns and

1 crossroads communities, crossroads commercial, resort and recreational subdivisions,

5 therefore invalid.
