Subject: Keep moratorium on oil exports in Whatcom County!

Dear Whatcom County Council -

I'm sure you're aware of the orca known as J-35, or Tahlequah, who recently lost her calf a half an hour after it was born; this calf was the first born to the southern resident population of orcas since 2015. I, with many others, am distressed and saddened by learning about Tahlequah and her calf.

I'm writing to request that you keep their moratorium on oil exports in Whatcom County and protect the habitat of the Southern Resident Killer whales from an increase in underwater noise.

The orcas can't do it themselves - so we have to.

Thank you.

Kate Berrigan, Michigan
